Abstract

The Bill Benedict Collection contains 2,720 photographic slides taken by Bill Benedict detailing numerous views of the interiors and exteriors of theatres. The collection mainly depicts theatres in the Midwest, though there are a significant number of slides from theatres in other regions of the United States and a small number from Toronto, Canada.

Background Information

William T. "Bill" Benedict (1921-2002) was born and raised in Royal Oak, Michigan, earned a bachelor's degree from Illinois State University in Normal, Illinois and a master's degree in organ performance from Columbia University in New York City, and served four years in the US Army Air Corps as a teletype operator during World War II. Benedict spent 24 years as a music instructor in Oak Park, Illinois, and worked closely with the Chicago Area Theatre Organ Enthusiasts to help promote theatres with pipe organs. After retirement Benedict moved to the North Side of Chicago and volunteered as an usher and tour guide at the Chicago Theatre. Benedict, a knowledgeable theatre building historian, also became an important member of the Theatre Historical Society, volunteering many hours of his time to help run the organization and create indexes for the THS Archives. He was named Member of the Year in 1986. Benedict died in 2002 from complications following a lung biopsy after a cancer diagnosis.

Scope and Contents Note

These slides are arranged in the original order kept by the creator, Bill Benedict. He had kept them in slide carousels; each series is derived from a separate carousel. The slides are not arranged alphabetically or geographically by state/region. However, the slides are described by state, city name, and theatre name (for example, WI-Milwaukee-Oriental). Slides depicting theatres in Canada are described by country name, province, city, and theatre name (e.g., Canada-ON-Toronto-Imperial). In Box #3, there are five trays of unidentified slides that were not included in the creator's index.
