Abstract

The Loew's Collection includes 29 boxes of the Loew-Down and Loew's Movie Memo newsletters that were published several times a week and 60 photographic scrapbooks of photos and negatives of Loew's theatres during construction or after a renovation. The scrapbooks were given to Ben Hall by Ernest Emerling (Loew's VP) when they were discarding items from their offices. The provenance of the Loew-Down and Loew's Movie Memo is unknown.

The Photographic material has been disbursed among the THS Negative Collection, Editor's Collection and the Theatre Files. A listing of negatives from the Loew's Collection that are now housed in the THS Negative Collection will be included in this finding aid after the folder listing of publications.

Background Information

Marcus Loew (1870-1927) formed People's Vaudeville Co. in 1904, first running penny arcades though he would open his first movie theatre, the Penny Hippodrome in Cincinnati, the following year. In 1910 Loews Consolidated Enterprises goes public and the company builds its first theatre that year. In 1919 the company is renamed Loews Inc. and in 1920 Loew purchases Metro Pictures.

In 1924 Metro Pictures is merged with Goldwyn Studios and Louis B. Mayer Co. into a company soon known as MGM combining a major Hollywood studio with a large theatre chain. In 1948 a major antitrust case was brought forth (United States v. Paramount Pictures, Inc. aka Hollywood Antitrust Case of 1948) which forced movie studios and theatre chains to become separate entities. This was a landmark court decision that saw the splitting of Loews into Loews Theatre Inc. (theatre holdings) and Loews Inc. (later MGM Inc. for movie production and distribution).

Loews would change hands a number of times over the years. In 1998 it merged with Cineplex Odeon Corporation to form Loews Cineplex Entertainment making it one of the largest chains in the world. The company celebrated its 100th anniversary in 2004. In 2006 Loews Cineplex Entertainment operated 198 theatres around the world. The company was absorbed by AMC Theatres ending the Loews chain though many theatres still carry the Loews name.

Scope and Contents Note

The collection is split into two separate series based on the two publications and spread out over 31 boxes. The first series comprises the publications Loew's Ink, the Junior Loew-Down, and the Loew-Down. They are arranged chronologically with holdings of the Loew's ink from 1923 until 1927, The Junior Loew-Down from 1932 until 1934, and the Loew-Down from 1930 until 1973. Loew's Ink was a monthly newsletter published for and by members of the Loew-Metro club. The Junior Loew-Down was a one or two page newsletter that was printed several nearly on a daily basis covering news on movies and theatres. The Junior Loew-Down was combined with the existing Loew-Down which was a newsletter also covering news on movies and theatres.

The second series is made of the Loew's Movie Memo, a bi-weekly packet mailing newsletter sent to news agencies to provide copy on Loew's stars and movies. Many of these also included publicity shots from movies. Holdings in the archive are from 1945 thru 1960.

Other materials in the Theatre Historical Society holdings may relate to the topics in this archive. Consult the archivist for further research assistance.
